

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair! I changed the way I do my long distance calling because it was too expensive and now you are trying to make it impossible for me to have affordable long distance at all. I make very few long distance calls and am on a fixed income. We made the change because it was too expensive. Why have any options if you are going to make the same rules for everyone anyway? You don't feed a cat, dog food.

Sincerely, Bill and Colleen Fry

Sincerely,
